About the Author

A. A. Milne

A. A. Milne was an English writer renowned for creating the beloved children's character Winnie-the-Pooh. Born Alan Alexander Milne in London, he attended Westminster School and later studied mathematics at Trinity College, Cambridge. While at Cambridge, he edited the student magazine Granta and developed a passion for writing. Milne's inspiration for Winnie-the-Pooh came from his son's teddy bear, originally named Edward, who was renamed Winnie after a bear at the London Zoo. The popularity of these characters led to the creation of Winnie-the-Pooh (1926) and The House at Pooh Corner (1928), which became classics of children's literature.

Product Description

The House at Pooh Corner is a 1928 children's novel by A.A. Milne. It is the second and final book in the Winnie-the-Pooh series, following Winnie-the-Pooh. The story continues the adventures of Pooh, Piglet, Eeyore, Rabbit, Owl, Kanga, Roo, and introduces the energetic Tigger. The book concludes with a poignant line that emphasizes the enduring nature of friendship, leaving readers with a sense of nostalgia and the timeless themes of childhood and imagination. The House at Pooh Corner celebrates enduring friendship, the magic of imagination, and the bittersweet nature of growing up.
